PROBABLY A GOOD PLAN

The Oklahoma Way of Securing Bank Depositors and How They Treat Officials.

The following report on an Oklahoma bank failure shows the way they do things in that democratic commonwealth:

"The International Bank of Coal-gate was reported to the bank commissioner by one of his examiners a few days ago for violating the banking law of the state, particularly in its managing officers borrowing from the depositors' money.

"The bank commissioner at once visited the bank in person and found that the total deposits were $37,000, of which the president, L. A. Connors, owed over $6,000, and the cashier, L. Elzy, owed over $4,000—in other words, about thirty per cent. of the deposits had been borrowed by the two managing officers. The bank commissioner demanded that they immediately replace the money. They failed to do so. He closed the bank at 2.15 Thursday evening; telephoned the state banking board; received instructions to immediately proceed to pay all approved deposits. In forty-two minutes from the closing of the bank the commissioner was ready to pay approved deposits. By Friday evening sixty per cent. of the depositors had appeared, proved their claims and received their money. By the end of the second day ninety per cent. of all deposits had been paid. A few depositors who live in the country don't seem to be in a hurry about drawing their deposits. One farmer is reported as answering over the rural telephone that he is too busy to come after his money, but will want it in a week or so.

"In the meantime both the president and the cashier have been arrested for the violation of the state banking law and are held under heavy bond.

"There will probably be no loss to the state guaranty fund and no assessment required on other banks. Liquidation will likely reimburse the state fund within thirty days. The loss will probably not exceed the capital stock."

IT'S AN ILL WIND THAT BLOWS NOBODY GOOD

A prominent Chicago lawyer tells of an amusing incident which he witnessed subsequently to a certain breach of promise suit in which he had acted as the defendant's attorney says the Philadelphia Ledger. The two were standing talking when they were joined by a third man, a friend of the client and an acquaintance of the lawyer. The third man had been out of town for some little time.

"Hello, old man, what are you looking so blue about?" the newcomer demanded, as they shook hands.

"Oh, I've had a little hard luck—I've got to pay Miss Blank $5,000 on account of a breach of promise judgment," was the disconsolate reply.

"Say, I'm glad to hear that, old fellow!" the friend exclaimed fervently, seizing the dejected one's hand and shaking it vigorously.

"Glad to hear it. I've got to pay that money, I tell you! What do you mean?" the other demanded in astonishment.

"Just that, my boy. It will be just about enough for us to set up house-keeping on—Miss Blank and I are to be married next month, you know."

THE OLD, OLD STORY

Seating himself on the porch, he wiped his perspiring brow.

"I am going to ask you the old, old question," he said to the girl at his side.

"Never mind asking it," she said, wiping her brow in turn. "Yes, it is hot enough for me."—Philadelphia Ledger.

I had one foot in the grave, but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I've been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at all drugstores. Fifty cents.
